

Power up your project

Reduce the cost and time for assay development and commercialization

Developing a molecular test? Speed up your time to market and maximize your efforts by partnering with a proven leader. Whatever your project size, Thermo Fisher Scientific offers a superior combination of quality, customization, and support to guide you at every step.

Our commercial supply team will help you with these areas.

Customization: get your product exactly how you want it for your unique application

- Custom formulation
- Bulk lot sizing
- Custom labeling and packaging
- Product inserts, animal origin documentation, and Certificates of Analysis

Manufacturing: outsource to a trusted supplier with proven manufacturing experience and established quality systems

- Leverage our ISO 13485 quality management system
- Our scalable resources support a broad range of supply demands
- Lyophilization of your assay

Commercial rights: gain access to our vast portfolio of products

- Obtain commercial rights for most of the products we have already developed; in many cases, without licensing fees
- Many of our catalog solutions are turnkey, with little optimization required
- Validate your assay on our instruments to leverage our installed base; you can even place our instruments in your customers' labs

Partner with us, just like these companies

Find out more at thermofisher.com/oem

ThermoFisher
SCIENTIFIC