Budesonide is a highly effective steroidal antihistamine decongestant, and is available as a mixture of two epimers. The safety of budesonide-based pharmaceuticals depends on careful monitoring of impurities associated with the epimers. The related substances are decomposition products and synthetic byproducts. The Acclaim 300 C18 column is a direct replacement for the column in the reference method.